THE PENITENTIAL ACT (CONFITEOR) -ROMAN MISSAL, THIRD EDITION

The Penitential Act immediately follows the greeting dialogue. Important changes occur in the first form (A) of the Penitential Act, which is the commonly used formula called the Confiteor. “Confiteor” is Latin for “I confess.” It comes from the first line of the prayer.

Most of this text remains the same as the version we presently use. However, there are two key modifications.

- The first replaces our current wording of “I have sinned through my own fault” with “I have greatly sinned.” The new text reflects the Latin wording by incorporating the adverb “nimis,” which means “very much.”
- The second change occurs halfway through the Confiteor, and is more significant. The words removed from the first section (“through my own fault”) are being returned to their proper place here, but with the expression’s full content. “Through my fault, through my fault, through my most grievous fault” is a direct translation of the Latin phrase “mea culpa, mea culpa, mea maxima culpa.” As a well-known line from the old Latin Mass, “mea culpa” has even become a familiar part of our secular parlance, by which one admits having made a mistake.

Why this heavier emphasis on sin in the revised English Confiteor? Looking beyond simple fidelity to the Latin, language that calls to mind our fallen human nature is actually very important in the Sacred Liturgy. The apostle, St. Paul, spoke of his complete and continual reliance on God’s grace in vivid terms well after his conversion: “Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners. Of these I am the foremost” (1 Tim 1:15). One insight St. Paul and all the saints teach us about the spiritual life is a realization that the more we humans understand the absolute holiness of God, the more we realize our own sinfulness and our need for repentance in God’s presence.

It is good to acknowledge our sinfulness at particular times, just as we do at sacramental Confession. Unlike Reconciliation, we are not sacramentally absolved of our sins at this point during the Mass. Nevertheless, it’s a very appropriate way to “prepare ourselves to celebrate the sacred mysteries” (as the Priest says at the beginning of the Penitential Act). We strive to approach the altar of God with humble dispositions, and should receive the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ free from grave sin, and in a worthy fashion, as St. Paul exhorts us in 1 Corinthians 11:23-29.

During the Confiteor, we should “strike our breast” while saying, “through my fault, through my fault, through my most grievous fault.” This prescribed “striking” is a symbolic tapping of the chest with a clenched fist over one’s heart, signifying remorse.

This reflects the beauty of our Catholic liturgy – sacramental words are complemented by sacramental actions. This action also recalls the penitent tax collector in Luke, chapter 18, who “beat his breast and prayed, ‘O God, be merciful to me a sinner.’”

The Confiteor ends with the individual asking for the prayers of the rest of the assembly and the Saints, led by the Blessed Virgin Mary, whose sinlessness and humility are the perfect model for our own Christian lives.

Confiteor (New Text):

I confess to almighty God
and to you, my brothers and sisters,
that I have greatly sinned
in my thoughts and in my words,
in what I have done
and in what I have failed to do,

through my fault,
through my fault,
through my most grievous fault;
therefore I ask blessed Mary ever Virgin,
all the Angels and Saints,
and you, my brothers and sisters,
to pray for me to the Lord our God.
